

13 June 1956

25X1A9A

Professor Morison has faithfully set forth in these volumes the major aspects of US Naval operations in the "Battle of the Atlantic".

It was a battle of high stakes for which brave and tenacious men relentlessly drove their ships to defeat a worthy foe.

Above all, it was a battle of wits and technology. In no war was Naval Intelligence so sorely needed or its response so full-fledged. Its ranks truly earned the Navy's traditional accolade, "WELL DONE".

Captain, US Navy
(Retired)

25X1A9A

25X1
25X1

